

Abstract of the Disclosure:

5 A method and apparatus for generating and using role certificates is described. The role certificate is for use on a specific device (or devices) and provides for enumerated activities to be performed on the device(s). The role certificate can further enumerate the specific entity (third party) that can perform the enumerated activities on the device.